Pocono Designs does all kinds of stylized stuff like this. Hopefully the calendar, at $25, does not actually in person have a weird line through the word "calendar." The retro cards are only $15, although I JUST noticed that it says they're on pre-order and won't arrive until January, so... I guess those are for your OWN poker night, or someone who won't care if you print out a photo and wrap it in a giant box, or shove it in his/her stocking. And the recipe cards ($8 for a pack of 12) are just in case you know somebody who likes to kick it old-school.
